Tarar rules out any negotiation rumours with PTI

ISLAMABAD: Federal Minister for Information, Broadcasting, National Heritage, and Culture, Attaullah Tarar, on Saturday stated categorically that no negotiations are being held at any level with Pakistan Tehreek-e-Insaf (PTI). Addressing a news conference, Tarar said that Interior Minister Mohsin Naqvi, following Islamabad High Court (IHC) orders, contacted PTI Chairman Barrister Gohar to convey that protests or sit-ins in the federal capital were illegal. Tarar warned that those participating in violent protests would be arrested and held accountable for any damage, as the government would not tolerate actions jeopardizing public safety. The minister said protests are illegal and disrupting public life will have consequences, stressing the government's commitment to law and order. He said that PTI aims to create divisions between friendly countries. It's baffling that a protest is called on the same day a friendly country seeks to enhance cooperation with Pakistan, he maintained. He stated that PTI and the country's enemies share the same goal of hindering economic progress. He mentioned that Belarus is Pakistan's close ally, and preparations have been finalized to welcome the president of Belarus in Islamabad. He noted that similar protests and sit-ins occurred during the 2014 visit of the Chinese president and the SCO summit. He said Belarus and Pakistan are planning to jointly manufacture tractors. "While the administration prepares to welcome Belarusian guests, it is also ensuring citizen security. Can the system function effectively under such conditions?", he questioned. He warned that officers involved in political activities will face strict action. He said the investment is flowing into Pakistan, the economy is growing, inflation has dropped from 32% last year to 6.9% this year, and foreign remittances totalled $8.8 billion in the first quarter. The economy is improving due to lower interest rates, and these figures cannot be disputed. He said Pakistan's stock market is the second-best performing in the world, and its growth reflects improvements in economic indicators. "37 people were killed in Kurram Agency, but the Khyber Pakhtunkhwa Chief Minister did not visit to console the people. How could the Chief Minister forget Parachinar's pain?", the minister stated adding that said Pakistan Army soldiers are sacrificing to protect the people, while Khyber Pakhtunkhwa police need better training against terrorism. He said that the province must focus more on law and order, as terrorism persists, even around Adiala Jail.

Responding to a question, he said PTI is divided into the Aleema, Nooreen, and Bushra Bibi groups. He called it a melodrama between "Nand" and "Bhabhi". The country they once sought gifts from is now speaking against them, the minister said and condemned PTI members for the disgraceful protest at the Prophet's (PBUH) Mosque, questioning if they remembered Sharia when raising slogans there. In response to another question, he said PTI has continually caused chaos and tried to harm relations with friendly countries. Bushra Bibi doesn't even know how to spell "international relations", the minister remarked. "PWD was closed due to corruption, while we are advancing toward digitization and billions of rupees have been saved through anti-smuggling efforts", the minister underlined. Responding to another question, he said the Pak Army is sacrificing in the fight against terrorism, while the Khyber Pakhtunkhwa Chief Minister shows no concern for law and order. He condemned PTI supporters for setting fire to trees in Islamabad and noted that the Apex Committee had warned such actions wouldn't be tolerated. The minister said that public anger is growing, and one day, people of Khyber Pakhtunkhwa will hold them accountable. He stressed that if PTI wants to protest, it should be in Khyber Pakhtunkhwa, as attacks on the federation won't be tolerated. He also claimed they aim to drop bodies as part of a plan.

No tannery allowed to operate outside special zone after December: Asif

SIALKOT: Federal Minister for Defence Khawaja Asif regretted on Saturday that the Sialkot Tannery Zone (STZ) project had been delayed for 16 years. In 2008, a loan of Rs. 290 million was taken from the Punjab Environment Department for the project, but it could not be completed. However, he warned that tannery would be allowed to operate outside the special tannery zone after the deadline of December 30. The administration would crack down if the project was not made functional by January 1. He said: "I will raise my voice on the floor of the assembly against those responsible for the delay and I will go to NAB with the case myself." Speaking at the meeting, Khawaja

Asif ordered for expediting the work of shifting all offices of the District Courts to the designate place outside the city. He said the Government College Women University Sialkot (GCWUS) would be shifted to a new campus on Aimenabad Road covering 200 acres and the vacant space in the Sialkot city court will be converted into a park at the same time.

Khawaja Asif announced that land worth Rs. 220 million would be acquired for relocation of the general bus stand on Daska Road. An underpass would also be constructed in front of the new bus stand to improve traffic flow. Additionally, traffic signals would be installed at key intersections across the city, under the supervision of the Municipal Corporation. In a bid to ease congestion, Khawaja Asif stressed the need to make Sialkot's major markets, including Muslim Bazaar and Lahai Bazaar, traffic-free. He also suggested the district administration build a large parking plaza adjacent to the railway station. This project could be executed through a commercial or public-private partnership to help expand business activities in the city. Addressing the ongoing traffic challenges, the federal minister identified encroachments as a major obstacle. He urged the municipal corporation, district administration, and police to collaborate on a comprehensive plan to eliminate encroachments, with strict action taken against officials responsible for permitting them. To further alleviate traffic congestion in the city, the federal minister proposed the expansion of the Eastern Bypass and the connection of Pasur Road to Daska Road. He commended the success of the Safe Cities Project, which has made Sialkot safer. The project would be officially inaugurated soon by Punjab Chief Minister Maryam Nawaz Sharif. APP ber of them continue to live in Pakistan despite many migrating to India due to the discrimination they face. To truly rediscover our heritage, we must look to the East.

If Punjabi children were exposed to the poetry and writings of these great figures, they would grow up with a better understanding of their roots, their history, and their identity.

While it is important to integrate English into education given its global significance, this should not come at the expense of the languages that have shaped generations.

We need to reclaim our heritage and recognise its value. It offers unity and fosters togetherness among people.

Our musical heritage, much like our linguistic traditions, is at risk of being forgotten. Too much has already been lost, and too little has been preserved.

The new higher-ed reality the public discourse and thinking on local higher-education funding: endowment funds. Endowment funds comprise financial assets of an institution, such as universities, that are invested in generating income to support activities and operations.

Building an endowment fund from scratch is a long game, too long perhaps (up until now) for vice-chancellors (VCs) appointed for short tenures to take an interest in.

With few exceptions, understanding how to set up, fund, and run an endowment fund is still minimal.

With many universities teetering on the edge of insolvency, it is unlikely for investments large enough to generate sufficient income to materialise.

Public support is dwindling, the floor in some office of the bureaucracy for a slightly larger handout.

Universities are the new colleges of domestic political 'halwa'-barrel spending - every elected representative in the National and provincial assemblies is eager to boast about bringing one (more) to their district.

few universities that possess resources that have the potential for monetisation are, according to them, prevented by the rules and regulations that govern them, and virtually none of them have bothered to think about making institutional investments like endowment funds despite many boasting worldly and well-travelled leadership teams.

I view the news that the government of Punjab will hand thousands of public schools to private partners and begin to wash its hands of delivering a public service as elementary as school education as a surrender and a harbinger of things to come.

If universities are relying on donor funding, many donor countries (especially those that our government works with) do not provide higher education as a right.

In 2023-24, the collective expenses of public universities added up to Rs293 billion.

With public funding stagnant for years, there are only two other sources - investment income and tuition fees.

PTA asked for sufficient time to avoid disruption amid looming VPN registration deadline

The Pakistan Telecommunication Authority (PTA) has been urged to sufficient time for Virtual Private Network (VPN) registration and consultation on unregistered ones amid looming registration deadline which is set to expire on November 30.

The request was made by the Pakistan Software Houses Association (P@SHA) during a consultation session hosted by the PTA at its headquarters, read the press release issued by the regulatory authority.

The session was also attended by stakeholders, including the Pakistan Software Export Board (PSEB) chief executive officer (CEO), Pakistan Freelancers Association (PAFLA) chairman, representatives from the Ministry of IT and Telecom (MoIT), Ministry of Foreign Affairs (MoFA), the State Bank of Pakistan (SBP) and P@SHA chairman.

December 1. The prospective action is to be interpreted against reports suggesting that Pakistanis make up to 20 million daily attempts to access blocked explicit content using unregistered VPNs, despite government restrictions.

A successful trial of VPN blocking has already been conducted, and a second trial is planned to ensure readiness for the full-scale shutdown.

The PTA has maintained that unregistered VPNs are considered a significant security risk, as they can be exploited to access sensitive data and facilitate criminal activities.
